Re: Honolulu University Consortium
Of Health Care And Technology

Dear Dr. Roemawi,

It is truly unfortunate that I need to write this letter to you in all of our years of association in the past.

You may recall that you had come to me for my assistance in working with you personally to form Honolulu University Consortium of Health Science and Technology. We had together signed an MOU to undertake this venture. I trusted you with my passport and other information which we understood was used for the purpose of making myself the personal representative for the school in the United States.

It has now come to an unfortunate ending that I must withdraw and not participate in this University. Despite all of your emails to me, I do not know who the other individuals are who continue to write unfriendly letters and emails to me. I never agreed to have these individuals become part of the undertaking between yourself and myself in this University. I further do not feel comfortable dealing with third parties with whom I have never met, never had an association with, nor know authenticity of their background, training and diplomas. An enterprise of this nature obviously requires the good faith of the parties.

Please accept this as my letter of resignation and that I will ask that you cease and desist from using my name, the name of Honolulu University or any of the information I previously supplied, including my passport and my photo to you to continue this undertaking and venture on this corporation. Please be advised that I will no longer be responsible for the registration and expenses for AACAC website and its involvement whatsoever. Therefore please remove my name as its Vice Chairman.

Thank you for your anticipated understanding.

Very truly yours,

DR. ARTHUR O. YAMADA
