With music, food and fireworks, Sebastian's Fourth of July Freedom Festival is one of the best ways to experience the Independence Day holiday.

More than 20,000 visitors are expected on July 4 for festivities sponsored by the City of Sebastian, Sebastian Lion's Club and Sebastian River Area Chamber of Commerce.

The event kicks off this year with a 5K run/walk at 7 a.m. at Riverview Park.

Stamp Out Hunger scores big for area food pantries

About 40,000 pounds of food will be making its way to four local pantries, thanks to the generosity of Sebastian residents.

Last Saturday's food drive, which is part of the U.S. Postal Service's Stamp Out Hunger initiative, brought in enough food to sustain many residents over the traditionally lean summer months.

The River Fund's Feed Everyone Program, the Lord's Table Soup Kitchen, the Ecumenical Council Food Pantry and Abiding Presence, formerly Faith Ministries, all received food donations.

In Sebastian, sorting under tents at the Main Street post office was cut short by heavy rain and lightning around 2 p.m.

"Boy it was scary for a while," said coordinator Gayle Seifert. "We had a lot of rain and big gusts of wind while we were waiting for the mail trucks to arrive."

Seifert said that especially with the afternoon storm, she was happy that the collection got off to an early start with several hundred volunteers.

"I got here at 7:30 a.m. and the people were already waiting," said Seifert. "The Sebastian community is so generous and they open their hearts and give, and then give again."

Next year, the Stamp Out Hunger initiative in Sebastian will be coordinated by Becky Allan, who will assume the reigns from Seifert.

"My goal is to just continue all of the wonderful things that have been going on," said Allan.

"It seems to get bigger and bigger every year because we involve more organizations. We see that the numbers of people who need help are increasing every year, but so is the generosity of the community," Volunteer Bruce Zingman from the Sebastian Property Owners Association said he had already collected three cars full of food by noon, and he was heading out again.

"Every place I looked, there was food at mailboxes," said Zingman. "I was on Roseland Road, then I was at Collier Club. It was amazing to see how people wanted to help."

Retired postal clerk Don Wilson from Palm Bay was at the Sebastian post office early Saturday morning, and was amazed at how much the event has grown.

"We had such a great turnout," said Wilson. "We have a lot of volunteers who come back year after year, and people have certainly recognized the need."

"Every year, this event just gets bigger and bigger."

Avoid identity theft with this event

By Janet Begley
 Special To Treasure Coast Newspapers

Sebastian residents who don't want to risk identity theft when they discard personal documents can bring their confidential files to the Sebastian City Hall Parking Lot on Saturday, May 21 for the first annual Shred-It Day.

The event, which takes place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., is sponsored by the city, which has contracted with a company called Shred-It to recycle all of the paper materials, according to City Clerk Sally Maio.

"Councilman Eugene Wolf actually first suggested the idea and we brought it to the City Council," said Maio. She said that the city uses the service to dispose of sensitive paper documents. After shredding, all of the paper material is recycled.

WHERE DOES IT ALL GO?

■ After material is shredded, it is subsequently baled and recycled, ensuring that private information is disposed of safely and that the paper shredding helps save the environment in the process, officials said.

■ In 2008, Shred-It's recycling program saved more than nine million trees. For every two security consoles filled with paper, one tree is saved through the recycling process.

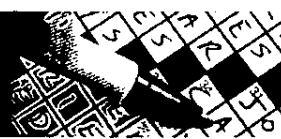

■ According to industry estimates, in addition to saving trees, every ton of recycled paper uses 64 percent less energy, 50 percent less water and causes 74 percent less air pollution than the same quantity of paper from virgin wood pulp.

■ All of the paper that is collected for secure shredding is recycled into a wide assortment of paper products, officials said.
