7 Day Weekend

Remember when...

Back around the turn of the century pools were a lot different than they are today. If you wanted to swim on the weekend you had to check the water chemistry first, then you usually had to dump some chlorine into the pool, some muriatic acid and then clean the filter after you vacuumed it. Then you had to make sure there was gas in the tank and light the pilot and turn on the heater. You had to keep an eye on the temperature because if you didn't before you knew it would be too hot and then the gas tank would go empty. You had to turn a bunch of valves to clean the filter and if you weren't careful you would usually lose prime to the pump and spend an hour trying to get it to work again. But, it sure was worth it because nothing beats a warm, clean swimming pool. Today its different! Today we check our chemistry in the pool every two or three weeks because the salt chlorine generator keeps the water perfect 24/7 and when we do need a little chlorine we just turn it up a notch. The filter is one of those new System 300's, that only needs to be cleaned about once a year. The FAFCO Solar heater keeps the pool warm with a little (very little, I might add) help from the Starite high efficiency gas heater with the electronic ignition. And the temperature is controlled by the Aqualogic system which makes the chlorine, controls the pump, regulates the temperature and lets us know the pool temperature and outside air temperature on our indoor wireless controller. The Great White pool cleaner from Starite keeps the pool perfectly clean all week long. It even brushes while it vacuums. Now we have a 7 Day Weekend in our Millennium Pool thanks to the new technology from Mirasol FAFCO Solar.

You Make the Difference!

As we move forward two things are very clear: Energy costs are going to rise and fossil fuels cause harm to our environment. The days of cheap energy are gone forever! The United States represents 5% of the world's population and uses over 25% of the world's petroleum. The increasing demand from China, India and the rest of the world will continue to drive oil prices skyward. Our commitment at Mirasol FAFCO Solar is to provide quality products and services that lessen our dependence on non-renewable energy. Our goal is to improve your lifestyle while using less energy. From solar panels to high efficiency heaters, salt chlorinators that sanitize water without transporting, manufacturing or dealing with liquid chlorine and hybrid swimming pools that use less energy and provide more comfort and usage.

The main ingredient in this recipe for doing more with less is you, our customer. When you became our customer you took the road less traveled. You made a decision to invest in your future instead of making daily withdrawals. It's no secret that people who invest in renewable energy and energy efficiency have a higher regard for the environment. They develop a more global consciousness and realize that decisions we make today affect many generations to come. We at Mirasol are only the catalyst. We can only provide an opportunity for you to make the right decision when it comes to your future and our environment. You make the difference. Thank You! Scott Egglefield, President, Mirasol FAFCO Solar
