Our Team

Our Philosophy

Indoor air pollution is the number one environmental health concern in the United States and the Environmental Protection Agency states that indoor air quality is 5-20 times more polluted than outdoors.

AirMD believes every home or office should provide a green, healthy and safe environment. Unfortunately most indoor environments do not meet these basic criteria.

AirMD was created to fulfill the need for a green environmental testing company based on scientific analysis.

In keeping with our philosophy, we provide green testing services, solutions and green products at affordable prices.

The Need For AirMD

More than 80% of our time is spent indoors; however, the indoor air quality of our home and office environments are filled with health hazards that cannot be seen or measured without scientific environmental testing. Exposure to airborne allergens, particles, chemical gases, bacteria, mold or electromagnetic radiation (EMR) creates health risks.

Whether at home or in the office, the benefits of a clean, green environment are obvious. People sharing public areas or interacting in indoor environmental settings should feel secure knowing their surroundings are environmentally safe.

AirMD's goal is to provide that safety for residential and commercial clients.
