14. The Society admits that the information supplied with the above substantially misrepresented and was not equal to the information stated in the letter of 11 July 1982. It would admit that the information supplied in the above report on supplementary demand report is true and accurate and that the supplementary demand was the same as the demand made orally. But it says that it is not the case that the information in the above report was substantially misrepresented to make the demand appear to be a demand for 1000 kg of fish, and that the relative error was less than 1% because of an error in the demand with an absolute error.
