Dear Governor Bush,

I have a S-corporation. For 20 years I have received my registration renewal notice, signed the forms mailed in a check and completed the process in minutes. In 2003 this simple procedure has become a morass of incompetence and ineptitude on the state's part.

The normal first notice was not received. The first notice that I received was a late notice with a $300 penalty. A phone call produced no live human, but a recording, that said what should be done if a first notice had not been received. Apparently this was not an isolated problem.

I followed the procedures advised by E-mail and my registration fee check was cashed. Months later I received a notice that my corporation is no longer registered in Florida.

My office manager did talk to a helpful individual and he is reviewing my situation.

I have copies of all of my correspondence.

What should take minutes has taken hours and now is even taking your time.

This is an absurd situation.

Sincerely,

Thomas E. DeLopez, D.D.S.
