CHAPTER IV

SHAREHOLDERS' MEETINGS

SEVEN: The General and Special Shareholders' Meetings are validly constituted to discuss and resolve when a sufficient number of shareholders are present or represented so as to integrate 100% of the capital stock of the company. The decisions will be taken by simple majority of the votes present in the meeting.

EIGHT: The General Shareholders' Meeting will be held annually, within three (3) months following the closing of the respective fiscal year, on the date determined by the President. The General Shareholders' Meeting has the following responsibilities: a) to appoint the President, Vice President, directors of the Company and make any and all appointments pursuant to this Incorporation Agreement and Bylaws; b) to appoint the Controller and the acting controller; c) to decide the creation of funds and reserves for guarantees, amortizations and various purposes; d) to discuss, approve, modify or reject the balance sheet, in view of the Report of the Controller; e) to decree dividends, liquid profits and accrued income of the Company; f) in general, to discuss and resolve about any other business presented to its consideration.

NINE: The Special Shareholders' Meeting will be held upon President's Notice or by the request of the shareholders representing twenty per cent (20%) of the capital stock of the Company.

TEN: The General or Special Shareholders' Meetings will be called by notification on the newspapers, at least five (5) days in advance of the date of the meeting. The call of the meeting will state the place, date, time and purpose of the meeting.

ELEVEN: The notice of a Meeting may be omitted and a meeting may be declared constituted any time, under the condition that the whole capital stock is represented in said meeting. The meetings so constituted may discuss and decide about any matter.

TWELVE: The presence of  $\frac{3}{4}$  of the capital stock will be necessary in a meeting for the following purposes: a) to dissolve the company in advance of the expiration of its term of duration; b) to fuse with another company; c) to sell the company assets; d) to extend the term of duration of the Company; e) to reimburse, reduce or increase the capital stock; f) to change the company object; g) to modify this Incorporation Agreement and Bylaws; h) Change of company name; i) to grant securities.

THIRTEEN: The Shareholders' Meeting will be presided by the President of the Company, or by the person acting as such President. In the event of absence, the General Shareholders' Meeting will appoint a person to preside said meeting and a person to serve as a secretary of the meeting. The secretary may be a shareholder.

FOURTEEN: The Shareholders may be represented by representatives by means of a proxy or by other genuine means.

FIFTEEN: A minute of every Shareholders' Meeting will be written and it will be signed by all the presents. The minute will contain the names of the presents, the assets represented and the decisions adopted. These Minutes will be written on the Company Book, which will be duly stamped.

ADMINISTRATION

SIXTEEN: The Company will be administrated and legally represented by a Board of Directors formed by at least two directors appointed by the General Shareholders' Meeting.

SEVENTEEN: The General Shareholders' Meeting may assign titles and special functions to the Directors when appointing said Directors, without prejudice to the Shareholders' Meeting or the Board of Directors designating officers or executives, pursuant to this Incorporation Agreement and Bylaws.

EIGHTEEN: The Directors will hold office for one year and they may be reelected or in any event, they will continue to hold post until being replaced. The General Shareholders' Meeting has the power to remove and substitute the Directors at any time.

NINETEEN: The Members of the Board of Directors may be shareholders. However, for the members of said Board to hold office, they will deposit two (2)

TWENTY-TWO: The Board of Directors has the most ample powers for the administration of the company, such as: to represent the company in any and all matters; to grant proxies for the adequate legal representation of the company judicially and extra-judicially; to delegate powers; to execute the operations corresponding to the company fiscal year; to determine the expenses, salaries of Managers and employees of the Company; to confer mandates; to decide about the occurrence of any act or execution of any contract in which the company is involved; to request and execute loans; to grant credits and securities, if necessary; to issue, accept and endorse letters of exchange, checks, promissory notes and other commercial instruments; to mobilize bank accounts by means of checks or payment orders; and in general, to exercise the necessary powers to ensure the company good standing and the performance of the operations referred to in the object of the company. Paragraph One: The General Shareholders' Meetings and/or the Board of Directors may delegate any or all of the powers above mentioned to one of several of the Principal Directors for the adequate representation and administration of the Company. Paragraph two: The legal representation of the company to act as a plaintiff will be exercised by the President.

CHAPTER VI

DISTRIBUTION OF PROFITS

TWENTY-THREE: The Company fiscal year will close on December 31 each year. An inventory will be performed and balance sheets will be presented, pursuant to Article 304 and forward of the Commercial Code in force.

TWENTY-FOUR: The following reserves will be allocated in each fiscal year: a five per cent (5%) of the profit for the formation of the legal reserve fund, until reaching a ten per cent (10%) of the capital stock; b) special reserves for guarantees and various purposes as deemed proper. Once the profits have been calculated, the general and specific expenses have been deducted and the various reserves have been made, the favorable balance can be distributed completely or partially among the shareholders, proportionally to their number of shares, and pursuant to the decisions of the Shareholders' Meeting when announcing the respective dividend.
