Dear Revenue Agent:

This letter is written on behalf of my client Just Jewels, Inc., Florida Document Number G31271, regarding the corporation's Annual Report for Year 2006. It has come to my attention that the Annual Report for Year 2006 has not been filed due to several extenuating circumstances.

The owner of Just Jewels, Inc., Jack Kluger, who is the only shareholder and employee of the corporation, was suffering a great deal of stress and was emotionally very fragile during the last quarter of Year 2005 through the second quarter of Year 2006. During this time period most business reporting responsibilities were ignored. Fortunately, Mr. Kluger has recuperated and knows he needs to file his Annual Report.

I am requesting that you waive the late fee and that he be allowed to pay only the $150 filing fee. He told me he e-mailed the Division of Corporations regarding this matter several times and received no response. In addition, he tried calling the phone number listed on the reminder notice but it turned out to be a wrong number. Due to the emotional turmoil described above and the fact that he attempted to contact the Division of Corporations to no avail please accept the check included with this letter and Annual Report.

Sincerely,

Andrea L. Heckman
