1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem. This involves gathering information about the situation and understanding the needs of the stakeholders involved. Once the problem is clearly defined, the next step is to develop a plan of action. This plan should outline the goals of the intervention, the methods to be used, and the roles of the various participants. The third step is to implement the plan. This involves putting the plan into action and monitoring progress. Finally, the fourth step is to evaluate the results. This involves assessing the impact of the intervention and determining whether the goals have been achieved.
