Recall Information

March 1, 2005

NOTICE: THIS LETTER CONTAINS IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR KUBIC™, K2™ AND SURFACE™ COLLECTION LIGHT FIXTURES

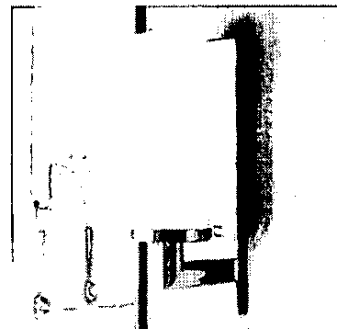

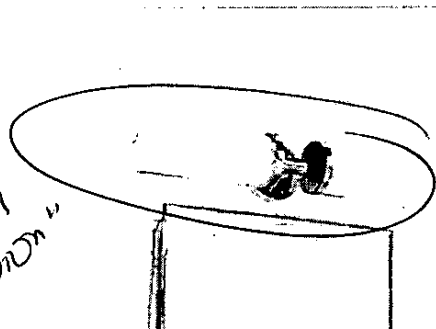

Dear Valued Customer:

Your safety is important to us. Recently, Ginger® discovered that in some instances glass shade of certain Ginger light fixture collections was not manufactured to specifications, and as a result, it is possible that the shade could separate from fixture base and fall. This potential problem affects only certain Kubic™, K2™, Surface™ collection light fixtures. Due to the fact that these units do not meet quality standards for its products, Ginger® has determined to conduct a voluntary

While the risk of injury is remote, because your safety is our first concern, Ginger voluntarily notified the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("CPSC") of the problem, and initiated a program to contact customers like you, who may have purchased one or more of the potentially affected light fixtures.

Ginger will issue a replacement glass shade or shades free of charge to each customer who purchased a potentially affected light fixture. The replacement shades will include a number of quality improvements designed to prevent the identified problem.

The units subject to this voluntary recall were sold between August, 2003 and September, 2004, to commercial accounts and to consumers through select stores and retailers nationwide for between $240.00 and $355.00. The light fixtures feature a mouthblown glass shade with various sizes of chrome or satin nickel finish and some decoratively encircled with wood. The lights can be installed horizontally or vertically. The lights take A19 incandescent bulbs, 100 watt maximum, and must meet applicable UL standards light appliances in damp locations. No screws are used to attach the shades to the base. They are glued to a metal base which screws onto the mounting plate. The writing is visible on the mounted light fixtures.
