To whom this may concern,

I came home from my first vacation in two years on the 28th of July to find in my mail a 2nd notice from the State, claiming I haven't filed my annual corporation report. I've enclosed a copy of my check stub dated April 3, 1997, April & May Bank statements. I've highlighted April's statement to show you where the check break in sequence is. If you look at May's statement it also shows it hasn't cleared. Please call the bank to verify my efforts.

When I came home and discovered this problem I immediately called the State and spoke to a man named Jason at your Department. He said he wasn't allowed to give his last name otherwise ~~I~~ I would have provided it. He told me to mail another check along with a statement to the Department of Public Inquiry and they would review my situation. He asked me why I didn't look at my statement to see if the check cleared. I responded by telling him that I subtract the bank charges listed on the statement from my check book and then mail it to my accountant who handles everything else. Over the past year I haven't been very please or satisfied with my accountant's job, Alessandri & Alessandri located in Tampa. This kind of problem will never be overlook again I can assure you that.

Please accept this check for $165.00 plus another $8.75 for certificate of status. I'm not going to request the bank put a stop payment on check #3952, so if it ever arrives cash it for 1998 annual Report. This is my way of trying to show how sincere my efforts are to be a good citizen. I always pay my sales tax and other taxes on time. Please don't Penalize me. Sincerely yours,
