Per our divorce settlement between Jennifer Sozio (at the time) and Scott Sozio, All In One Roofing was to be run 50%/50% with a non-solicitation agreement. We were divorced September 14th, 2020. She went back to her previous married name Chandler which is her previous husbands last name and removed me off the corporate docs in December of 2020 without my knowledge or consent. Because it was my license on the line, I inactivated my license #ccc1331068 March 2021 because she was not allowing me access to any emails, business accounts and or projects. I inactivated it so my license was not affected by any poor business actions on Jennifer's part. Unfortunately, my son was involved in a terrible accident and was in the ICU. During this time Jennifer Chandler sent letters and emails to all of All In One Roofing's clients while my son was in emergency surgery to keep his leg, stating All In One Roofing is going back to its roots Chandler Roofing. This not only violates the non-solicitation agreement but also falsely represents a business agreement between the 2 companies which never existed. I sent a certified letter to Jennifer which she signed for on July 19th, 2021. She filed a Voluntary Dissolution of the company On July 20, 2021 stating I was using my license CCC1331068 to license another company. This is untrue. I have a completely different license number CCC1332671 which qualified my brother Michael Sozio's company Four Peaks Roofing which she was fully aware of. Therefore, I am sending this Revocation of Dissolution to put the business All In One Roofing LLC solely in my name Scott Sozio.
