To Whom it may concern:

I was a little puzzled when I got the mail yesterday and I received notice that my corporate filing was late. Upon investigation, I confirmed that I NEVER RECEIVED the initial invoice! I just got off the phone with Robin in your department; she advised me to write a short note of explanation and send in a check for $150.

I hope that the fact that I incorporated in 1988 and have never had this problem before lends credibility to my situation. As I am very old fashioned about paying bills on time, and knowing full well the proportionate amount of penalties that are incurred by not paying this bill on time, there is no way I would have let this lapse.

Robin gave me some good advice for future reference: make a note on my calander on Valentines Day to be looking for this documentation. I will be very grateful if this matter is closed with the receipt of this letter and check, and needless to say, there is no way this will happen again as safeguards will be in place if your documentation doesn't reach me.

Best Regards,

Raymond Laura
