To Whom It May Concern:

We were informed, inadvertently through one of our financial institutions that our status with you was inactive. Upon receiving this information we contacted your office and were informed that we were dissolved, because we did not fill out our 1996 Annual Report.

We have moved and never received the 1996 Annual Report, nor the subsequent letter stating we would be dissolved to our new forwarding address.

We have had only one forwarding address and I am not certain why neither correspondence were received.

After speaking to someone in your office I was informed we needed to be reinstated, and that this would be retroactive back to 1996. I was told if we put a letter in writing as to these above circumstances, that the reinstatement fee would be waived, but that we must pay for the Annual Reports for 1996, 1997 and 1998.

My understanding is that the amounts for these years is as follows:

1996 - $200.00

1997 - $165.00

1998 - $150.00.

Enclosed is our check for $515.00 to reinstate us back to active status. I am also informed that the inactivity will be omitted from the computer upon reinstatement.

Please notify us as to any questions in this regard. If we do not hear from you we will assume that we will be activated by the end of next week.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

David L. Williams,
President
