That the goal is to understand literature through history and other areas of the Humanities. That the proceeds of materials created within this project will be used to continue the purpose of the Corporation. In addition, if the contractual obligations allow, this organization may make distributions to organizations that qualify as exempt under section 501©(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, or the corresponding section of any future tax code.

ARTICLE IV

That the Incorporator and the registered agent will appoint all corporate officers and employees initially. After their appointment, they will vote to determine who the chairperson will be. A simple majority will be required to appoint the chairperson. That those appointments to employees of the Corporation that are the result of a grant proposal prior to or simultaneous to the formation of the Corporation can only be removed by the board for cause and are subject to the rules set forth in the bylaws.
