Corporation Name

This corporation shall be named: Amar Prem-Sapna Sharanasthan & Basant's Fight for Rare Cancer Awareness, Inc.

Article II

Duration

The length of time that the organization will be under full function is meant to be nonfinite and perpetual. The existence of our corporation will commence from the initial creation of this non-profit organization.

Article III

Corporate Purposes

The reason for the formation of our organization is to serve the community in various roles that are needed for the growth and prosperity of all humankind, focusing on encouraging spiritual and compassionate views in our daily lives and tasks.

The purpose of our non-profit organization: Amar Prem-Sapna Sharanasthan is to benefit the general public through a Hindu mandir (church) setting. In this aspect, we will promote and instill the values of Sanatan Dharma (Eternal Righteousness) as prescribed in various Vedic scriptures such as the Vedas, Puranas, Upanishads, Shastras, Ramayana, Bhagvat Gita, and other similar texts to this and upcoming generations.

The general goals of Amar Prem-Sapna Sharanasthan include the following:

- 1. We will host weekly services for Hindu deities as well as festival/holiday events.*
- 2. We will provide a place of learning for the youth to include lessons in Hindi, Sanskrit, Vedic text studies as well as introduction to traditional instruments, bhajans/kirtans (religious choir),* Bharatnatyam/Kathiak (religious dance). We will additionally cater to the needs of the youth as volunteers and funds allow for homework help, SAT prep, etc. We will also strive to provide similar studies catered for adult education for spiritual and general advancement as volunteers and funds allow.

3. We will continue to encourage a strong sense of community duties in our members and provide means of returning to the community at large through all areas.

7. We will provide a place of residence for our priest(s) and their immediate family when financially able.
8. We will host multiple events throughout the year to help gather needed funds to meet our goals.

Our main goal is to revive Vedic culture and teachings into daily life such as offering Sanskrit prayers (mantras) of gratitude to God and seek His protection in all aspects of our life. Our organization will be subdivided to dedicate specific areas of assistance or interest exclusively including religion, charity, education, and scientific/medical research.

The leadership and guidance of this organization will be provided by a Hindu priest, a religious leader in Sanatan Dharma. This individual will be chosen based on the lineage of their family line as prescribed in the Bhagvat Gita and other texts. The course of study should be completed under an apprenticeship or formal Vedic training. This is in accordance with the fact that Sanatan Dharma is culture which is passed down to each generation through traditions, informal teaching and story-telling from parents and other kin, and formal training and education if this was easily accessible to the individual. In accordance with the law, these individuals should hold the required licensure and/or certificates deemed necessary by the U.S. state and federal government laws and regulations.

The main purpose of the non-profit organization through Basant's Fight for Rare Cancer Awareness is to raise awareness and research towards and for rare cancers. Being Hindus, it is difficult to separate our religion and daily life because Sanatan Dharma is really a culture; therefore, it affects and contributes to every part of life. For example, the grounds on which a building may be erected for our purpose as Basant's Fight for Rare Cancer Awareness would need to be worshipped upon and the building design would directly follow the Vaastu Shastra. It is for this reason that we have establish our Mandir, or church, with our forefront goal of raising cancer awareness and the intent to help societal members in any way possible.

Our incorporator, Basant Tiwary, passed away fighting one of the worst cases of this horrible disease: Desmoplastic Small Round Blue Cell Tumor. The goals of this aspect of the non-profit organization are to continue his fight and honor him in this way by helping those who are also facing cancer, especially rare types, and to push for more sound research dedicated and geared specifically to rare cancers. While we will never turn our backs on an affect person, child or adult, our focus will remain on rare cancers. We will continue to share Basant's story through any possible means such as through news articles, social media, meetings, etc. We will encourage those who wish to volunteer or provide financial support through general outreach to the community. Activities and organizations that we will coordinate with include the Share-A-Meal program at the Ronald McDonald Houses or providing gas/gift cards to social workers/child life specialists/hospital nurses that can be given to needed families. As our financial growth allows, we will also aim to provide funding for necessary rare cancer research including the rare cancer which Basant was diagnosed and treated for unsuccessfully. Once again, this part of the organization will be exclusively devoted to religion, charity, education, and scientific/medical research.

Under both entities of our non-profit organization, we will pursue:

- A) Education of society through traditional school environments including educational field trips,
- B) Collaboration with other organizations holding similar values to work towards our goals,
- C) Acquisition of real or personal property for the exclusive purposes of our organization.

Under both entities of our non-profit organization, we will use corporation powers for:

- E) Conducting operations that are not principally done in the United States of America

Our non-profit organization is meant to comply and implement all present and future local, state and federal laws, including those of the Department of Revenue (DR-5) and the Internal Revenue Service (501(c)(3)), regarding churches, public charities, and/or non-profit organizations.

In the most simplistic definition, our goal of this non-profit organization is to help all mankind and promote righteousness. Our non-profit: Basant's Fight for Rare Cancer Awareness is dedicated to Basant's story and life. Our goals are to help families dealing with cancer, no matter color, creed, race, religion, etc. and raise funds for rare cancer research. We would like to have a community building to accommodate struggling families with medical bills/financial strain due to a cancer diagnosis, and also provide a non-discriminatory place for children of all ages to communicate and engage with one another, especially when going through this type of ordeal. Our non-profit: Amar Prem-Sapna Sharanasthan, so named for Prem (love) and Sapna (dream)-the names Basant chose for his future children, is dedicated to serving the community at large. We would like to encourage a Hindu community that follows in the steps of the Christian churches. There are no local Hindu mandirs (churches) that provide daycares, schooling, counseling, financial aid, scholarships, food pantries, etc. We do not think that this is right because funds raised stay within the mandir and never reach the people. While not everyone is in need, there are numerous families that are. We want to encourage a deeper sense of purpose towards healthy community growth and develop and encourage unity and compassion of mankind. We hope to have a building that will allow us to function in these aspects as well. Although we've already lost Basant, it doesn't mean that we cannot help people that are still here on Earth and need the help that Basant once did. Because Basant's philosophy, was "Don't just sit and pray, go out and do something, help someone," we have taken his teachings in stride and have repurposed ourselves to do such. The founding Board Members will ensure that message is poured into the community with everything that we do under Amar Prem-Sapna and Basant's Fight for Rare Cancer Awareness, Inc.

To fully comply with the legalities of the Internal Revenue Service for non-profit organizations rightfully seeking tax exemption status, Amar Prem-Sapna Sharanasthan & Basant's Fight for Rare Cancer Awareness, Inc. have adapted and, therefore, amended our purpose to include the following quoted clause: "The organization is organized exclusively for charitable, religious, educational, and scientific purposes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, or corresponding section of any future federal tax code."
