Florida Adolescent/Young Adult Sexual Health (FLASH) is a community-based, youth-focused network consortium of stakeholders focused on HIV and other sexual health issues in adolescents and emerging adults in Florida. FLASH aims to promote bi-directional community-engagement to address sexual health issues among vulnerable youth populations with outreach, research, education, and advocacy. Members work with FLASH leadership to foster and materialize positive sexual health outcomes among youth populations in Florida. Members also advise on best practices to engage in discussions, advocacy, and outreach activities with local organizations and community representatives in their respective communities.

The manner in which the directors are elected or appointed is provided in the bylaws of the corporation.
