The only provision the Department of State has to waive late fees is if the corporation never received the notice. There is a box on the online form under your corporate name that can be checked to avoid the late fee if you file online.

You can file your Reinstatement online using a credit card (if within one calendar year of the date of administrative dissolution/revocation) or download the form to be mailed in with payment. Go to our web site www.sunbiz.org <<http://www.sunbiz.org>> and in the center of the page under "Our Site Index" you will see two banners, one is an option to file online using a credit card and the other lets you download the form to be mailed in with payment.

Dear Sir or Madam

The above referenced entity was administratively dissolved on October 1, 2004. The notices with regard to this dissolution were not received by the association due to damage and devastation from Hurricane Ivan. Please advise if due to this situation if re-instatement fees are being waived.

Sincerely,

Lori Carpenter Landrum
