To Whom It May Concern:

It is with deep regret that our first Annual Report is being filed late. During spring break, we had some high school senior students from our church helping us out in the office. We had given the task of this report along with other mail to be sent out by one of the students. However, we received a phone call from a creditor inquiring about a payment. We told them that the payment had been mailed and gave them the check number, amount and date. Nevertheless, we ended up giving the company a payment by phone and putting a stop payment on the other check. We assumed it had been lost in the mail. Recently, we were looking through some papers and discovered that all of the mail, including our first Annual Report was under some papers in a place we would have never looked, had it not been for the need to find another document given to this same individual. After finding the mail, we called your office immediately and told the gentleman the circumstances and he told us to mail the Annual Report along with a letter explaining the situation and the check for $ 50.00.

Please forgive the lateness of the report, as it was not deliberate in our getting the report to you in a timely manner.

Should you have further questions, I can be reached at (305) 953-7779.

Sincerely,

Charles C. Scott, II
