ARTICLE XIV

This corporation's stock shall be voting stock, each share with a par value of five ($5.00) Dollars, U.S. One hundred shares to constitute the total outstanding capital stock.

ARTICLE XV

Should any shareholder of the Corporation, UNIQUE AUTO SALES #1, INC. desire to sell his or her Corporate stock, he /she may do so subject to the following conditions:

Prior to selling any corporate stock to any person or entity not a shareholder of the Corporation he or she shall first offer his/her stock for sale to all remaining shareholders of the Corporation. Said offer shall be in writing, and shall be via United States mail, Certified, Return Receipt Requested. This offer shall state that it is made pursuant to this Article, and shall name the price (the price) desired by the seller.

The price shall be the greater of the book value or market value which ever is higher. Market value is to be determine by adding to the total capital invested the result of the multiplication of the total capital invested in the corporation by the seller times a percentage rate equal to prime rate plus 2%. Prime rate to be determined by the average New York Stock Exchange prime rate from the month preceding the sale or transfer of the stock. All remaining stockholders shall receive said offer pursuant to this Article, and they may accept or reject the same, in writing, within ninety (90) days of the receipt of the offerer's written notice. If more than one stockholder intends to accept the one delivered to the seller first will be the one valid and accepted taking precedence over the other acceptances.

If a higher offer is made, a counter offer, due to more than one stockholder wanting to buy, it will be to the seller's discretion to accept or not said counter offer. Upon acceptance of an offer, the purchase price shall be deposited in an escrow or trust account with a bona fide title company, practicing attorney, or practicing accountant. In the event the offerer does not receive written notice of the acceptance together with notice of the deposit of the purchase price, an escrow letter, in escrow within ninety (90) days after said offer, the offerer shall be free to sell his or her stock for an amount equal to or greater than the price named in the written offer. The offerer must attempt to find an individual desirous of purchasing said stock at the aforementioned price who shall be compatible with the remaining shareholders, and who meets the approval, as determined by a majority vote, of the remaining stockholders, prior to a valid sale being effected. In the event that no one meets said criteria, the seller may sell to anyone but said stock sold will be non-voting, and will only have the benefit of its monetary share of gain or loss, the purchaser will have no decision making power nor voting power in any matter related to the corporation. Each share of stock issue by the Corporation shall bear the following legend: This Corporation's Certificates are subject to Charter restrictions and may not be transfer without strict compliance therewith.

If the Board of Directors so desires, or if a member of the Board makes a motion, they may vote and give the non-voting stock inherited voting power. Except that the Board's vote in favor of making said stock voting stock must be unanimous.

ARTICLE XVI

In the event of the death of a shareholder the shares will be placed in a trust if no estate is established. The trust will have as its beneficiary the heirs of the shareholder and if no heirs the corporation. If within the time period established by Law or one year, which ever is greater, no heir has claim the stock the stock will become treasury stock owned by the Corporation. If an heir is disable or otherwise incapacitated to the stock and its benefits, as determine within this Articles of Incorporation, may be left for the benefit of the heir in the trust. Said inherited stock will lose all voting power and will be non-voting when put into a trust or inherited.

ARTICLE XVII

In the event of the death of a shareholder the shares will be inherited in accordance with Law. Said shares will continue to give the heir(s) the same financial benefits they would have provided to the shareholder if he or she were not deceased. However, the shares will become non-voting, and the heir(s) will have no power or voting right in the operation of the Corporation.

The heir(s) will have the right to cause, at their expense; an audit of the books and records of said Corporation if they feel that discrepancies of any type exist. Said discrepancies must be aired at a Board of Directors meeting before an audit can start. If the discrepancy is not explained to the satisfaction of the heir(s) by the Board the audit may be initiated by the heir(s) chosen auditor(s) at the heir(s) convenience. The heir(s) may not be members of the Board of Directors nor officers of the Corporation.

The Board of Directors must meet at least once per calendar year. At no time and under no circumstance shall the heir(s) be deprived of the monetary and financial benefit provided by the inherited stock.

If the Board of Directors so desires, or if a member of the Board makes a motion, they may vote and give the non-voting stock inherited voting power. Except that the Board's vote in favor of making said stock voting stock must be unanimous.

ARTICLE XVIII

In the event of that a separation or divorce of a shareholder and spouse, the shares will not be transfer to the spouse, instead the shares will remain with the existing shareholder. The shares will not be passed to a spouse of a shareholder unless by court order, and in such a case said shares shall be non-voting. In the event that said shares are transfer to a spouse by court order and said spouse wants to sell the shares he/she shall follow the sales process outlined in ARTICLE XV.

Unless contrary to Law the shareholders shall strictly comply with the conditions and articles outlined in these Articles of Incorporation, by-laws, and if a vote of the Stockholders determines it Minority Shareholders Agreement shall be adopted.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the stockholders and subscribers have hereunto set their hands and seals this 21 day of June, 2000.
