Dear Sir or Madam:

Today I received a notice of administrative dissolution or revocation, apparently because I did not file the 2003 corporation annual report on time. This is the first time I have become aware of this problem, as I have not received any warnings prior to this event. This is probably due to the following unfortunate combination of events:

- I opened Escoto Management (EMI) in 2002, so this is the first year I have to file for renewal, and was not aware of this, as I did not receive any prior notices, and I did not have a track record of doing this for prior years
- I moved in 2002, my new address reflected in the enclosed application (Pembroke Pines)
- All the corporate officers and/or directors had an incorrect address, as they no longer live in the address on file (Coral Springs)

As soon as I became aware of this (today), I called your hot line, and was instructed to:

- write this letter explaining the circumstances,
- fill out the reinstatement application with a check for $158.75 (the standard fee plus a certificate of status request),
- respectfully request a penalty waiver, due to the circumstances.

I am a responsible, law-abiding citizen that always pays its bills on time. Now that I am aware of this, I'll make sure to do so, even if I don't get a reminder, although I think I will in the future, as the enclosed application has been properly updated.

Please reinstate my annual report and send me a certificate as soon as you can.

Sincerely,

Rodrigo Escoto
President
