To whom it may concern:

We at Growing Treasures Inc. apologize for not sending this payment on an earlier date. We have changed our mailing address to our home due to the fact that we were not getting mail at the business. Since we have been trying to open this business since March of 2001, there are times when there has been no one at the site. We finally opened on May 26, 2002., From this day on we are at the site every day and can collect mail. We never received the original request from you. We are a very small family business and every dollar makes a big difference for us right now. We were not even sure that we would be able to open due to lack of money, paying rent for so long and obtaining all licenses and permits required for a child-care facility. Therefore my family and I beg you to please accept this payment from us and please note this will not happen again, we are at the business all day, every day receiving all our mail now.

Thanking you for your attention and this huge favor we are requesting from you, we remain.

Sincerely,

Vicky Sanchez

To Whom It May Concern:

Last January, I applied for a change to my address with the postal service because I hadn't been reliably receiving my mail at the prior address. I had been aware of several instances of our mail service actually throwing unpicked up mail away. Today, I went to my accountant to review our account for quarterly filing and year end tax planning and she asked me for a copy of my Uniform Business Report for 2002. I reviewed my files and my accounts and we did not receive the report nor pay the fee and I can only assume it had not been done. Attached, please find an updated report, with our new address and payment for $150.

My accountant informed me that I should have filed this report by May 1st to avoid a penalty of $400. However, never having received the original report in January and due to the circumstances that led me to change my address in the first place, she felt that your department would show leniency at collecting this penalty amount.

I have tried to be responsible for all my financial and legal reporting requirements and have responded on a timely basis to all related correspondence I have received. Based on these circumstances, I would appreciate receiving leniency on the final assessment of the $400 penalty that could apply.

Thank you for your consideration. I can be reached at the number above if you should have further questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Johnna K. Payne
