To Whom It May Concern:

My client has informed me that when they logged on in the Internet to view the status of their company they realized that they never sent in the annual business report or the fee. It appears to be that they never received the original notice, which said that the annual filing fee was due by May 1st. Since they did not receive the reminder they completely forgot about the deadline of such form.

We respectfully ask that you accept the payment of $150.00 hereby enclosed and accept my client's apology and that it was not intentional but that without the form to remind them of their annual payment they simply forgot.

Sincerely,

Doris Cardelle

RE: Document #P01000034972
RS Business Associates, Inc.

To Whom It May Concern:

My client logged on into the internet to efile the annual report and pay it online and he was not able to because it said that the company was NOT active. This morning I called the Dept of State to find out what happened and I was told that back in October / 2003 when we submitted the request for the 2003 annual report to be accepted late (see copy of letter attached with the reasons) the Dept of State sent my client a letter giving them 60 days to specify the registered agent which was left blank on the 2003 annual report form. That letter was never received by my client and that is why they never sent it back and since the check to pay the 2003 fee was cashed for $150.00 we assumed that the corporation was again in good standing and up to date.

Again, I will have to ask to please accept the above explanation as an apology for not sending the letter back. We are enclosing the reinstatement form along with the $150.00 for 2004.

Sincerely,

Doris Cardelle
