Dear Sir or Madam:

I am writing this letter as support for having the extra $400 fee for missing the May 1, 2002 on-time filing deadline. This is the first year my husband and I have had this corporation. In an effort to save money I have done all of the filing myself without the help of an attorney or business accountant. Up until now things have gone okay, but somehow when we received this form it got filed away with our own personal tax information and I just now found it among those things. The corporation has earned no money thus far and in fact has had no cash flow what-so-ever if you don't count the various filing expenses we've paid out.

So I'm hoping that there is some flexibility in the filing deadline for people like me who have the best of intentions but are still in the process of learning the official ways of the business world. If so, please accept the enclosed fee of $150 along with my promise to never make such a mistake or request again.

With Sincerest Appreciation,

T. Varnes

Trish Varnes

P.S. I'm not sure if this matters but we have three small children and $400 is a lot of money to us. Thank you for any consideration you can give to our situation.
