To Whom It May Concern:

After receiving a notice that I was late in filing for 2002 and owed a late fee, I called Division of Corporations to see what the problem was. Sure that I had filed, I spoke with a woman who informed me that all was taken care of and I did not need to do anything until 2003. We discussed the subject for some time as I did not want to make any mistakes, especially since I recently formed the corporation. In any case, she informed me that my filing papers had probably crossed with my late notice in the mail and she could clearly see on her computer that my corporation was good until we should file for 2003.

After receiving a certificate of administrative dissolution, I called again in a bit more frantic mood than my first call. I have sorted through my records and have no record of paying the $150 annual fee. I apologize for this as I am usually a very organized person who stays on top of things. I am however, a first time business owner and can make mistakes, which clearly I have done. I still believe that I did file for 2002 though the money was not attached. And I am absolutely positive I was reassured by a lady in your office after receiving a late notice that all was clear until 2003. There was no reason for me not to file as I am still trying and build a business.

Please accept this check for $150 to reinstate my business. If you choose not to accept my reinstatement for the annual fee, please do not deposit this check. Please call or write me if you have any questions or would like to discuss anything. Thank you for your help.

Sincerely,
