Dear Sir or Madam:

The uniform business report for 2002 is enclosed along with payment. I recognize that this filing is not timely however this is not a result of disregard for the importance of this filing.

Prior to incorporating, this business operated in Tampa and all of the company's professional advisors are still located in Tampa. All important government documents are sent to Tampa for review by the company's professional advisors for guidance in appropriate response and disposition. The 2002 Uniform Business Report was in a FedEx envelope for shipment to Tampa shortly after we received it. One of our associates, visiting from Tampa, offered to hand deliver the envelope to our Tampa based registered agent for review.

Our associate put the envelope in the trunk of his car and forgot about it until he came across the envelope last week and finally delivered it.

I sincerely apologize for our delayed filing and I hope the department will consider abating penalties due to the unusual circumstances involved.

Sincerely,

Rachel Furmanski
