To Whom It May Concern,

Re: Filing of 2002 Uniform Business Report

We are new residents and business owners of Florida. We only got started in our gift basket business around Thanksgiving last year, about seven months ago.

As I'm sure you can appreciate with a new, small business everything is a priority. There isn't an abundance of cash around and you find yourself scrambling to try to drum up some business. That about describes where we are, anyway.

It wasn't until well after the deadline had passed that my neighbor at work (who has been good enough to give us pointers on most everything) casually asked if we had filed our 2002 Uniform Business Report on time. He went on to say that the price went from $150 to $550 in an awful hurry.

Needless to say I didn't have any idea what he was talking about. I had never heard of it and I certainly hadn't received one or believe me, I certainly would have paid it before the deadline. I really keep an eye on the pennies. An extra $400 is a lot of money to us right now, not something that I would have missed.

I called your office immediately and explained the situation. The lady was very helpful and suggested that I send the report, which she promised to send me, along with a check for the $150 and a letter explaining that I never received the report when I was supposed to. I waited several weeks and when nothing came in the mail, I called again and eventually got the one enclosed.

I would really, really appreciate it if you would take the above into consideration. I assure you that it won't happen again. I will go looking for my 2003 Uniform Business Report that's for sure.

Thank you so much for your consideration. We appreciate anything that you can do to help us.

Yours truly,

David Dick
