Dear Sir/Madam:

I hope you can help me with a situation of which I just became aware. Our company, Accent Productions, incorporated in 2001 and we paid an accountant to help us. We thought she gave us all the information that was required, but she turned out to be a problem for us rather than a help and we soon changed to a different accountant. Somewhere in the change over we failed to get the information that we needed to send in this payment each year and the annual report. We thought we had been doing everything necessary by filing our corporate returns each year and that someone would have sent us a notice if there was anything additional we needed to do.

We also changed addresses in 2002 and sent out the required notices. I did not realize we needed to send you a change of address form due to the lack of knowledge that you are not connected to the federal government and our regular tax filing, etc. Again, our accountant did not share this information with us and probably thought we knew. We could not ask about something we did not know about. I remember getting one late notice that was forwarded from the old address and I know I paid that bill to you and included a letter explaining why it was late (about the switch of accountant thing and lack of information.) I know for certain that that was after the change of address and would have had our correct address on the check and on the letter I wrote. I believe I even addressed the change of address issue and so assumed it would be updated in your records. Obviously this did not happen because we never received another notice and so this went unattended.

I don't know why the mail wasn't returned to you so that you knew we did not get our notice. I also know that my partner's address is correct on your website.....it only came to my attention the other day when I looked up our corporation and found that it had been made inactive for no payment. I don't understand why you wouldn't have tried to contact him when you got no correspondence from us. It seems premature to just make the corporation inactive.

In any case, this is a terrible mixup and several humans are in the mix to be at fault, me included. Basically we did not pay this because we did know it was due each year and we certainly would have sent the $150 in if we had received any sort of notice or bill or anyone had made us aware. I apologize. I asked on the phone what to do and the nice lady said to send in $600 for the years we did not pay and beg your understanding in this matter to please waive the late fees. I also am requesting that Accent Productions be reinstated as soon as possible. We had no idea we had done anything wrong.

Please note our correct address in the above heading for all future correspondence. I hope we are now paid up through this year.

Thank you!

Sincerely,
