Re: Corporate Reinstatement
New Bay Snacks & Drinks, Inc.

Dear Ms. Hood,

I write to you to explain my misunderstanding concerning the UBR Annual Report and to ask that you please pardon my ignorance. Please waive, if at all possible, the penalty given to our one (1) year old corporation (incorporated on 5-7-2002).

We have an accountant who takes care of filing our IRS taxes at the end of the year. He pretty much coached us, my husband -Argel A. Cabrera- and me, on necessary steps to follow for our corporation, as we are new to all of this. I had understood (again, total misunderstanding and I sincerely apologize for this) that, because we have no employees at this time, we didn't need to file anything other than IRS taxes, our yearly local city and county occupational licenses, and Sales Taxes through the Department of Revenue. All of these are up-to-date. Hence, I didn't follow-up with anything else received in the mail because of my misunderstanding. And as ignorance has it, I didn't even open or read anything else thinking it unnecessary. This last time I actually opened it and read it because of the RED Writing: 'Notice of Administrative Dissolution or Revocation' and I thought: 'Yikes! What did I do wrong?'

Both my husband and I have our regular full time office jobs in Corporate America, and we manage New Bay Snacks & Drinks, Inc. on our spare time. We have no employees yet. My husband replenishes the vending machines and I keep all the numbers and legalities. Our older son, Christopher M. Cabrera, helped deliver the ten (10) machines; this year Chris joined the Marines, so it's down to just my husband and me.

New Bay Snacks & Drinks, Inc. only has six (6) customers: a total of six (6) compact snack machines and four (4) compact drink machines. We're still very small and we haven't reaped any profits yet as we are still slowly paying our three (3) relative sponsors who made it possible for us to get started.

Again, I sincerely apologize for my oversight and I ask you to please honor the $150.00 I'm sending (enclosed) to get the UBR Report send to me (again) and please waive the penalty. This won't happen again.

Sincerely yours,

Guadalupe G. Espallat
