ARTICLE XIV

Should any shareholder of the Corporation, LIGISA, CORP. desire to sell his or her Corporate stock, he /she may do so subject to the following conditions:

Prior to selling any corporate stock to any person or entity not a shareholder of the Corporation he or she shall first offer his/her stock for sale to all remaining shareholders of the Corporation simultaneously and/or to all the Directors of the corporation. Said sale must be approved by a majority vote of the Board of Directors. Said offer shall be in writing, and shall be via United States mail, Certified, Return Receipt Requested. This offer shall state that it is made pursuant to this Article, and shall name the price desired by the seller.

The price shall be the greater of the book value or market value as defined herein, which ever is higher. Market value is to be determine by adding to the total capital invested the result of the multiplication of the total capital invested in the corporation by the seller times a percentage rate equal to prime rate plus 2%. All remaining stockholders shall receive said offer pursuant to this Article, and they may accept or reject the same, in writing, within ninety (90) days of the receipt of the offerer's written notice. If more than one stockholder intends to accept the one delivered to the seller first will be the one valid and accepted taking precedence over the other acceptances.

If a higher offer is made, a counter offer, due to more than one stockholder wanting to buy, it will be to the seller's discretion to accept or not said counter offer. Upon acceptance of an offer, the purchase price shall be deposited in escrow with a Bona Fide Title Company, practicing attorney, or accountant. In the event the offerer does not receive written notice of the acceptance together with notice of the deposit of the purchase price, an escrow letter, in escrow within ninety (90) days after said offer, the offerer shall be free to sell his or her stock for an amount equal to or greater than the price named in the written offer. The offerer must attempt to find an individual desirous of purchasing said stock at the aforementioned price who shall be compatible with the remaining shareholders, and who meets the approval, as determined by a majority vote, of the remaining stockholders, prior to a valid sale being effected. In the event that no one meets said criteria, the seller may sell to anyone but said stock sold will be non-voting, and will only have the benefit of its monetary share of gain or loss, the purchaser will have no decision making power nor voting power in any matter related to the corporation. Each share of stock issue by the Corporation shall bear the following legend: This Corporation's Certificates are subject to Charter restrictions and may not be transfer without strict compliance therewith.

If the Board of Directors so desires, or if a member of the Board makes a motion, they may vote and give the non-voting stock inherited voting power. Except that the Board's vote in favor of making said stock voting stock must be unanimous.

ARTICLE XV

In the event of the death of a shareholder the shares will be placed in a trust if no estate is established. The trust will have as its beneficiary the heirs of the shareholder and if no heirs the corporation. If within the time period established by Law or one year, which ever is greater, no heir has claim the stock the stock will become treasury stock owned by the Corporation. If an heir is disable or otherwise incapacitated to the stock and its benefits, as determine within this Articles of Incorporation, may be left for the benefit of the heir in the trust.

ARTICLE XVI

In the event of the death of a shareholder the shares will be inherited in accordance with Law. Said shares will continue to give the heir(s) the same financial benefits it would have provided to the shareholder if he or she were not deceased. The heir(s) will have the right to cause, at their expense, an audit of the books and records of said Corporation if they feel that discrepancies of any type exist. Said discrepancies must be aired at a Board of Directors meeting before an audit can start. If the Board does not explain the discrepancy to the satisfaction of the heir(s), the audit may be initiated by the heir(s) chosen auditor(s) at the heir(s) convenience. The heir(s) may not be members of the Board of Directors nor officers of the Corporation. The Board of Directors must meet at least once per calendar year. At no time and under no circumstance shall the heir(s) be deprived of the monetary and financial benefit provided by the inherited stock. If the Board of Directors so desires, and if a member of the Board makes a motion, they may vote and give the non-voting stock inherited voting power. Except that the Board's vote in favor of making said stock voting stock must be unanimous.

ARTICLE XVII

The ownership of this corporation and this corporation shall be consider non-marital property. The spouses of the shareholders are hereby given notice that the corporation is not marital property, the spouse shall release the heirs of the shareholders, and the shareholder, from any claims against the corporation and any interest in the corporation. It is understood by the spouse who has received notice by virtue of this document that he/she will not have any claims as to ownership interest in this corporation in the event of dissolution of marriage with the shareholder. It is also understood that in the event of the death of the shareholder the corporation and its stock will not be part of the shareholders estate, and thus the spouse will not claim this corporation as his/her inherited property and will not be entitle to any inheritance rights as to this corporation.
