Re: Investments & Investment Consulting, Inc., a Florida Corporation

Dear Branch Manager:

I have the pleasure of acting as corporate counsel to the above-referenced corporation. In 2003, our law office relocated from 235 South Maitland Avenue, Suite 216, Maitland, Florida 32751 to its present location indicated above. Unfortunately, the corporate annual report which needed to be filed with the Florida Secretary of State, Division of Corporations, was mailed to our prior address and was never forwarded to our new address. As a result, the corporation was involuntarily dissolved because of a mistake. This corporation has since been reinstated.

Please release the hold on my client's bank account at the earliest opportunity.

Sincerely,

Walker and Tudhope, P.A.

RE: Request by corporation to waive fine due to attorney error.

To Whom It May Concern:

I was notified by my bank, Washington Mutual that due to a complaint filed to them of my corporation was being "involuntarily dissolved," my corporate account was schedule for closure. This was news to me. As I have an account and an attorney to handle what I thought would be all my required paperwork and taxes. Please take the attached letter into consideration in your decision as to whether or not to waive the fine. I contacted the states 1-800 # and was told that this could be considered if the reason was a valid one. If not please let me know.

I have certainly learned that you can only really rely on yourself with something this important.

Sincerely,

Beth Schuldiner
