ARTICLE IX

No sale of shares shall be made by any Shareholder to any person, except the corporation, except as follows:

A. In the event any shareholder desires to sell his shares, or any portion thereof, to any person other than the corporation, he shall first submit to the corporation satisfactory evidence of the agreement to purchase such shares by such person.

B. In the event that the corporation, by majority vote of the Directors entitled to vote, exclusive of the selling shareholder, agrees to purchase the shares then the shares shall be sold to the corporation for a price to be determined and paid as follows: seller shall appoint an appraiser to appraise the value of the stock of the corporation as a going concern. If the corporation disagrees with the valuation then the corporation shall appoint an appraiser to appraise the value of the stock as a going concern if there is a difference in the valuation of the appraisers, then the two appraisals shall be averaged and the average valuation shall be binding on buyer and seller.

C. In the event the corporation declines to purchase such shares and the remaining shareholders agree to purchase such shares the shares shall be sold to the remaining shareholders of the corporation using the same formula for price and payment as set forth in Paragraph B, with each remaining shareholder purchasing a portion of the stock being offered by selling shareholder equal to that portion of the total shares of the corporation owned by him or her. Provided, however, if less than all of the remaining shareholders desire to purchase the selling shareholders shares then those who wish to do so may purchase in equal amounts.

D. No shareholder shall pledge or use as collateral the shares of this corporation without first obtaining the written approval of the corporation. Said written approval shall only be granted after approval of the pledging or use as collateral of the shares by a majority of the Directors entitled to vote, excluding the shareholder requesting the authorization to pledge his shares.

E. In the event that any shareholder shall die or become legally incompetent to handle his affairs, then, and in that event, the corporation at its option may purchase the shares of that shareholder on the same terms and conditions as set forth in Paragraph B, above. If the corporation does not desire to purchase the shares of the deceased or legally incompetent shareholder, the remaining shareholders shall have the option to purchase said shares on the terms and conditions set forth in Paragraph B, above.

F. In the event any shareholder shall file a personal bankruptcy or be forced to enter a bankruptcy, then the corporation shall have the right, upon Notice of the bankruptcy to purchase the shares of the shareholder in accordance with the formula set forth in Paragraph B, above. In the event the corporation declines to purchase the shares, then the remaining shareholders shall have the right to purchase the shares of the shareholder in bankruptcy in accordance with the formula set forth in Paragraph B, above
