Re: Annual Report, Investment and Residential Real Estate, Inc.

To Whom It May Concern:

After becoming incorporated last year I never used the corporation name because there was some dispute as to whether a real estate agent could be paid under a name that is different than that which appears on their license. I spent much time trying to figure out if this was acceptable or not and was receiving different opinions, so I chose not to use the incorporated name, and still have not. While preparing my taxes with my CPA it was decided it would be ok to use the incorporated name. For some reason I was under the impression that I was not supposed to file an annual report for 2005 since I did not use the incorporated name. I found out I was wrong in that assumption after the deadline to file the report. If I had known I would certainly have filed such a simple report. I am a small business and struggling with the current real estate market. $400.00 is a huge amount to me right now. I am requesting that the $400.00 penalty fee be waived this once due to my lack of knowledge with this process. I hope you will consider this request. I have enclosed the $150.00 annual report fee and will await your response regarding the $400.00 penalty fee. I certainly appreciate your attention in this matter.

Sincerely,

Denise Kirsop
