After the first one thousand (1000) shares of this corporation are issued, each holder of the original shares issued will have the first right to purchase additional shares of this Corporation that may be issued from time to time. Each such holder of shares may purchase an amount equal to (1) the total additional shares times (2) the ratio existing between the number of shares he (or she) holds at the time of the new issue and the number of shares outstanding. The first right to purchase will be deemed waived by any shareholder who does not exercise it, or who does not pay for the shares preempted, within thirty (30) calendar days of receiving written notice from the Corporation stating the prices and terms of the issue of shares and inviting him to exercise his (or her) preemptive rights.

B. Right of First Refusal (First Purchase Option)

The shareholders granted preemptive rights in the preceding paragraph, will also have a first purchase option regarding the sale of shares by subsequent shareholders. Any shareholder wishing to sell his (or her) capital stock must first issue an offering to one of the shareholders of the first one thousand (1000) shares issued by the corporation. The shareholder desiring to sell all or part of his (or her) capital stock must notify the other shareholders by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, that has a bona fide offer for the sale of the stock. The notice must state the name and address of the person or entity making the offer, the number of shares to be sold, the sale price and the terms of the payment. The notice will contain an offer to the other Shareholder to sell the stock for the same price and upon the same terms of payment as those of the bona fide offer. The shareholder to whom the notice is addressed will have the right to accept the offer for a period of thirty (30) calendar days from the date the notice was mailed. The offer may be accepted only by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the shareholder desiring to sell the stock. The acceptance shall be effective upon mailing.

The offering shareholder must offer the shares for sale to the original shareholders proportionately according to their interest in the corporation. Any portion of an offer rejected by one shareholder may be accepted by another original shareholder before it may be sold to the person or entity named in the notice. An original shareholder shall have an additional thirty (30) calendar days to accept an offer rejected by another original shareholder. Acceptance is to be made upon the same terms as stated above.

The offering shareholder may sell his (or her) stock only to the person or entity named in the notice should the shareholder to whom the offer was made fail to accept the offer within thirty (30) calendar days after the notice of the offer was mailed and, if applicable, another shareholder not accept the offer in an additional thirty (30) calendar days. The sale must be made according to the price and terms set forth in the notice. The sale can only be made after all time periods for acceptance by all eligible shareholders have expired. This first—purchase option is binding on all Shareholders and the Corporation, their heirs, legal representatives, successors and assigns.

No shares of stock in the Corporation shall be transferred without the approval of the Board of Directors of the Corporation either by a resolution of the Board of Directors at a Board of Directors meeting or by an instrument in writing signed by all of the Board of Directors.

In an event of any dispute arising over the sale price or transfer of the stock such stockholder shall submit a notice to the Board of Directors of his/her desire to conduct arbitration by notice in writing in which notice shall contain the price at which he (or she) is willing to sell or transfer stocks and the name of one arbitrator. After the acceptance of the offer, or the report of the arbitrators as to the value of the stock and resolution for any other disputes, the Directors have thirty calendar days within which to purchase the same at such valuation, but if at the expiration of thirty calendar days, the Corporation shall not have exercised the right to purchase, the owner of the stock shall be at liberty to dispose of the same in the manner he (or she) may see fit.
