Good Morning, I will file your document but first what I will need is a name release letter. Below is an example that you can use as a template. Once you have sent me the name release letter via e-mail then I will be more than happy to get your filing processed.

Your name release letter needs to include the following:

Your Name.

Business name and document number of the dissolved entity.

Tracking number or name of the newly filed business entity.

Please make sure to include a statement insuring that you have no intentions on reinstating the old business entity. As well as you would like to push through with the new filing.
