To Whom It May Concern:

Recently I received mailings for Loughner Roofing Inc. addressed to my name and address thanking me for requesting information and where to attend an upcoming seminar to obtain a roofing license. I discarded the information because it didn't pertain to me.

Next I received mailings from Bank of America addressed to me and Loughner Roofing Inc. I stopped by a Bank of America branch and was informed that someone tried to use my name and address to open a new business account @ Bank of America using Loughner Roofing, Inc. They requested both Credit & Debit cards which were sent to me. I personally contacted Bank of America and they informed me that this was done by someone "on line". Fortunately I was able to intercept the cards and shred them. Bank of America also told me the account would be marked as "Fraudulent". I immediately called all three major credit monitoring agencies and froze my social security number.

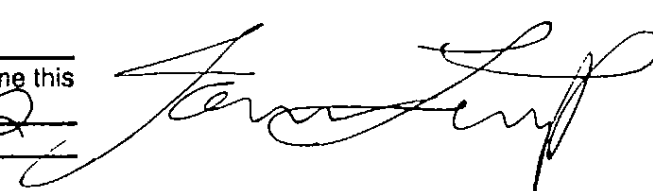

Per the attached, I discovered my name and home address was used to create a new business called Loughner Roofing, Inc. I am not and have never been affiliated with this company. I have never even known anyone or any company named "Loughner".

SunBiz informed me to contact the Florida Department of State to have this listing removed. I would appreciate any assistance in resolving this issue. Thank you.
