11. Conclusions—The results of this study indicate that the use of a single, non-validated, questionnaire to assess the prevalence of musculoskeletal disorders in a population of health care workers is not sufficient to provide a reliable estimate of the prevalence of these disorders. The use of a single questionnaire also does not provide sufficient information to identify the specific risk factors associated with the disorders. The use of a single questionnaire also does not provide sufficient information to identify the specific risk factors associated with the disorders. The use of a single questionnaire also does not provide sufficient information to identify the specific risk factors associated with the disorders.
