3. Pharmaceuticals—The pharmaceutical industry is the largest of the three industries, with sales of $10.5 billion in 1987. The industry is highly concentrated, with the top 10 firms accounting for 60% of sales. The industry is also highly innovative, with a large number of new drugs being developed each year. The industry is heavily regulated, with the FDA playing a major role in the approval of new drugs. The industry is also highly competitive, with many firms competing for market share.
