Every amendment to these Articles of Incorporation shall be approved at a meeting of the Board of Directors, proposed by them to the stockholders and approved at a stockholders meeting by a majority of the stock entitled to vote thereon, unless all of the Directors and all of the stockholders sign a written statement manifesting their intention that a certain amendment of these Articles of Incorporation be made.

ARTICLE XIII INTERNAL AFFAIRS

Provisions for the regulation of the internal affairs of the corporation are:

A. Each shareholder is entitled to vote for the election of Directors and Officers and shall have one (1) vote for each share of stock in the corporation. Cumulative voting shall not be permitted in the election of Officers or Directors.

B. For purposes of determining the number of holders of record of stock of the corporation, stock which is held in joint tenancy, tenancy in common or tenancy by the entireties shall be treated as held by one shareholder.

C. Except as herein stated, remaining provisions for the regulation of the internal affairs of the corporation shall be contained in the bylaws.

ARTICLE XIV
JOINT OWNERSHIP OF STOCK

There shall be no stock issued in the name of joint tenants, tenants in common or tenancy by the entireties or any other form of joint ownership unless the joint owners are husband and wife and the stock is placed in both names at the time it is originally issued. Exceptions may be made to this rule only by unanimous vote of all stockholders.

ARTICLE XV TRANSFER OF STOCK

No shareholder may sell, transfer, pledge, assign or otherwise in any way dispose of or encumber any of the shares of the capital stock of the corporation owned by such shareholders, except in accordance with the following procedures, limitations and restrictions:

A. If a shareholder wishes to dispose of his stock in the corporation during his lifetime and has a bonafide offer to purchase the stock, he must first send written notice to the corporation, giving the details of such bonafide offer and offering to sell each share of stock to the corporation for an either (i) amount equal to the net worth of the corporation, according to general accounting principles, divided by the number of outstanding issued stock, or (ii) an amount equal to the bonafide offer, whichever amount is less. The corporation shall have the first option to purchase all, but not less than all, of the shareholder's stock, which is the subject of the bonafide offer. If the offer to sell is rejected, or is not accepted by the corporation within thirty (30) days after the corporation receives written notice from the shareholder of his desire to sell, then any existing shareholder shall have an additional fifteen (15) days after the corporation's express or implied rejection in which to purchase the offered stock. If neither the corporation nor any existing shareholder purchases said stock, then the offering shareholder may dispose of his stock free of restriction; provided, that the stock may not be sold for any lesser amount than stated above without first complying in full with the terms of this paragraph.

B. In the event any shareholder wishes to dispose of his stock in the corporation during his lifetime and does not have a bonafide offer to purchase, the shareholder shall give written notice of his desire to sell and the corporation shall have the first option to purchase such stock at the same price as is stated in paragraph A above. If the corporation rejects such an offer or fails to accept same within thirty (30) days after receipt of shareholder's written notice of his desire to sell, then any existing shareholder shall have an additional fifteen (15) days after the corporation's express or implied rejection, in which to purchase the offered stock. If neither the corporation nor any existing shareholder purchases said stock, the offering shareholder may dispose of it free of the restrictions of this paragraph; provided, the stock may not be sold at a lesser price than that at which it was previously offered without first complying in full with the terms of this paragraph.

C. Upon the death of any shareholder whose stock is held in one name only, or upon the death of the last of any two joint owners, the corporation shall have the first right and option to purchase all stock owned by such decedent and the decedent's personal representative shall be obligated to transfer and delivery same to the corporation if such election is made and payment is made as provided herein. Written notice of election to purchase must be given to the personal representative of the deceased shareholder no later than thirty (30) days after such notice is received by the personal representative. If the corporation fails to purchase the shares of such decedent, then any existing shareholder shall have the option to purchase same within fifteen (15) days after the corporation's express or implied rejection, upon written notice to the personal representative of the deceased shareholder. The price of all shares sold under the provisions of this paragraph shall be the same as stated in paragraphs A and B above and shall be fixed as of the day of such decedent's death.

If neither the corporation nor any existing shareholder elects to purchase the stock of the deceased shareholder, the personal representative may dispose of same in accordance with the last will and testament of the deceased or under the laws of descent and distribution; but said stock shall at all times be subject to all restrictions contained in these articles of incorporation; and should the personal representative elect to sell the stock of the deceased, same may not be sold for a price less than that in accordance with paragraphs A and B above without first complying in full with the terms of this paragraph.

D. All stock certificates issued by the corporation shall bear on the face thereof the following legend: "sale, transfer, pledge, assignment, encumbrance or other disposition of these shares is restricted by the articles of incorporation, which may be examined in the office of the corporation".

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal and acknowledge I am filing the foregoing Articles of Incorporation under the laws of the State of Florida this 26 day of January, 1995.
