See instructions for officers/directors

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

2. Next, it is important to gather relevant information and data. This can be done through research, consultation with experts, or by analyzing existing data sets.

3. Once the information is gathered, the next step is to develop a plan or strategy to address the problem. This often involves breaking the problem down into smaller, more manageable parts.

4. The fourth step is to implement the plan. This may involve conducting experiments, performing calculations, or applying theoretical concepts to real-world situations.

5. Finally, the results of the implementation should be evaluated. This involves comparing the outcomes against the original problem or question to determine if the solution is effective and meets the requirements.
