To Whom It May Concern:

I write you today in reference to the matter of the 2003 annual report/uniform business report filing for Falafel King, Co.

It surprised me to find out that the annual report arrived almost 2 months late.

I made every effort to send it on time, and I mailed it on April 26, 2003.

My goal was for the report to arrive in a timely fashion and I regret it arrived late. Because of the delay, my company has been assessed a $400 late fee.

This $400 late fee will cause a tremendous hardship on my small family business. We are barely making ends meet these days and a $400 late fee will hurt our financial position significantly.

I kindly ask that the fee be waived, especially since the intent was to file the report on time, but for some reason arrived at its destination many days and weeks after it was mailed out.

Please consider my request to remove the late fee. From this time forward, I will be sending my annual report as soon as I receive them and using a trackable mail service.

Kind Regards,

Omar Dajani
