Re: Sports Management Services International, Inc. ("Sports
Management"); Charter No. P96000005429

Dear Ms. Prather:

This will confirm our telephone conversation of February 16, 1998, regarding the 1997 annual report for Sports Management which apparently has been lost in the mail.

On March 4, 1997, our client, Sports Management, mailed its completed and signed 1997 annual report form to you with its check number 17169 in the amount of $165.00. You advised me over the phone that on March 24, 1997, the annual report was returned to the corporation for failure to include its tax identification number, but the form was mailed to a different suite number. Sports Management advises that it did not receive the mailing from your office and consequently, as of this date, the check has not cleared Sports Management's bank account.

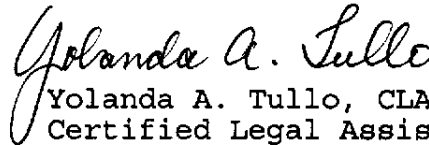

Pursuant to your instructions, Sports Management completed a new annual report form, which is enclosed, and we are requesting that it be filed to reinstate the corporation. This firm's check in the amount of $315.00 is also enclosed representing the annual report filing fees for both 1997 and 1998. Please reinstate this corporation as soon as possible.
