To Whom It May Concern:

After explaining the situation with a lady on the phone at your offices she indicated that I needed to put in writing the fact that I never received my year end annual report from my CPA and as a result did not realize that the renewal of my corporation wasn't filed. I like many busy individuals count on professional services to do certain things. I count on my CPA for services and advice and they have let me down on several occasions. I apologize for the fact that my renewal of my corporation was not done in a timely fashion. This is the second and final time my CPA firm has caused me aggravation and time and perhaps penalties. I am in the process of changing accounting firms and will strive to keep a better handle on regulatory issues in the coming years. I would greatly appreciate the waving of the late fee if you can and will. This past year has been not only busy with regular issues but my brother and I are dealing with an elderly father with terminal cancer, and a mom with the early stages of Alzheimers. I know these are excuses but they are time consuming and a priority. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Larry King
