Re: Letter Number: 600A00060968

Dear Ms. Prather:

In response to your letter dated December 1, 2000 (enclosed), enclosed are my original letter, the application for corporate reinstatement, and a check for the fees of $450.00 for my client, Nextwave Technologies, Inc. ("Nextwave").

Thank you for abating the penalties for Nextwave. My client has stated that Nextwave will file all of its future annual corporation reports in a timely manner now that it is aware of the annual corporation report.

Please call me if you have any questions. Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

Jacalyn A. Robinson, CPA

Annual Reports Filings
Division of Corporations
P.O. Box 6327
Tallahassee, Florida 32314

Dear Sir or Madam:

The purpose of this letter is to request an abatement of penalties for my client "A". Client A started a Florida corporation in 1997. Upon questioning the client, I discovered that since becoming a Florida corporation, client A did not realize that it needed to file an annual corporation report and does not recall receiving an annual corporation report to file. Client A wants to be in good standings with Florida and wants to file its annual reports.

I respectfully request that the Division of Corporation allows client A to file its annual reports for 1998, 1999, and 2000 and pay the $150 annual fees or $450 in total without incurring the penalties for late filing.

Please call me if you have any questions. Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

Jacalyn A. Robinson, CPA
