Figure 6

Diagram illustrating the relationship between the number of nodes (N) and the number of edges (E) in a network.

The diagram shows two sets of graphs. The top set consists of three connected components, each being a cycle graph with 4 nodes and 4 edges. The bottom set consists of four connected components, each being a cycle graph with 3 nodes and 3 edges.

In both cases, the total number of nodes is equal to the total number of edges, demonstrating that a network can be composed of multiple cycles where the overall node count equals the edge count.
