November 24, 2003

To whom it may concern:

On April 22, 2003 I sent in my Annual Report and a check for $150. I recently applied for my Workers Compensation Exemption and they returned it to me saying that my company was registered "inactive." At that time I checked my bank records and found that the check for my annual report was never cashed. I never received a second notice, nor did I receive a letter notifying me that the company had been dissolved by the state. I am now sending a copy of the original annual report, another check, and asking that you reinstate my corporation and abate any penalties do to the fact that the original report was apparently lost in the mail and that I did not receive any further notices from your office.

Sincerely,

David Riester
