RE: Reinstatement Notice and fees

October 12, 2001

Dear Department of State Official:

After receiving a Notice of Administrative Dissolution or Revocation in the mail late yesterday afternoon, we called your office this morning for clarification as to the purpose of this notice. The lady with whom we spoke said that we should have received paperwork to complete that was sent to our business address earlier in the year.

We told her that we had received absolutely nothing from your office at all! She said that in that case, we should write a letter stating that fact and enclose a check for $150.00 for the Corporation registration.

The only thing that my husband and I can figure out is that we have had severe trouble with the postal service in Destin for the past year. I no longer send invoices or bills from our box by the street because we had several calls saying that the recipients had not received things that I had mailed. In addition, our mailbox where we receive our mail has been flattened twice this year and put out of service. The first time, a drunk driver took it out and managed to carry all ten mailboxes in our cluster across the street and deposited it on the other side of the road about 100 feet from our driveway. There was no way to investigate what mail had been lost. The second time, an 18 wheeler (delivery truck) backed into the box and again, it was completely destroyed and put out of service.

In any event, please find enclosed our check for $150.00, our completed form, and our apology for being unavailable for notification.

Sincerely,

Kathie M. Dodd, Vice President
