To Whom It May Concern:

Regarding the enclosed reinstatement application for Geoffrey C. Guy, DC, P.A., Inc., in early 2000 the taxpayer began procedures to relocate his office from Clearwater to Tampa, and at the same time was heavily involved in a bitter divorce proceeding with his wife.

At this time his wife worked in the office and was responsible for handling all mail. The taxpayer does not know if he ever received the initial Corporate Annual Report for 2000. It is possible it was received by the taxpayer and mishandled due to either the divorce or the pending relocation.

In addition to the above situations, the taxpayer changed CPAs and therefore was not prompted to look for the Annual Report, as was always the case in the past. The taxpayer has filed all tax returns on time and adhered to all other reporting requirements. The 2000 annual report was not filed simply because the taxpayer did not receive the form, for whatever reason, and was not aware to look for the form.

The taxpayer has now retained my services to assure that all reporting requirements are met and I do not anticipate that the taxpayer will violate any reporting requirements in the future. On behalf of the taxpayer I am requesting an abatement of late filing penalties due to reasonable cause.

The taxpayer in no way intended not to file or violate any reporting requirement. The taxpayer simply did not receive the form due to a relocation and/or divorce and, because of changing CPAs, was not aware to do any follow up. Again, the taxpayer has now retained a CPA to insure this situation will not occur in the future.

Enclosed is a properly completed reinstatement form with a check for $150.00 for 2000. The form contains the new address and the taxpayer is now aware of the reporting requirement and knows to look for the Uniform Business Report in the future.

On behalf of the taxpayer I sincerely thank you and the Department of State for any consideration granted in the waiving of late filing fees.

Sincerely,

Nick P. Cola, CPA
