Dear Sir or Madam:

I started work at Ferris Construction on 8-6-01. The company had been through 3 girls in the last 6 months. The girl that was here trained me for one day and then left for another job. I spent all last week trying to learn what was expected of me. I think I am doing pretty good, but this week I started looking around at files and folders and found a file that said "Bills to be paid". I think she received bills, put them in this folder, and then forgot about them. I have had to call several people and explain why they have not been paid and to see if they would take off the late charges, they are killing us. I am now down to your form. I see that it must be a second request because of the late fee. I cannot find the first form, for all I know she may have mailed it, but I doubt it because of all these other overdue bills. I called the number on the form, talked to a girl named Carol, and told her my situation. She suggested I send in the original $150.00 and send a letter of explanation.

I have already entered the due date for next year in my yearly planner so this will not happen again. I hope you will except the original $150.00

Sincerely,

Kathy Gill
