We spent your planning the construction of our Florida home and selected AZURE Construction after a careful review of the leading developers in the area. AZURE is a highly disciplined and experienced firm with construction quality and project management standards that rise above others. We valued their discerning budget management and value engineering practices, especially in the context of being material costs & supply chain disruption. The daily on-site management was exemplary. The back office is supportive and highly capable, which is a definite strength. If you have clients at AZURE construction projects and compare them to others, you'll find the same standard of quality.
